1. Context

- Governors challenged the school lead on vocational and personalised curriculum to demonstrate pupils and parents were embedded in choices and decisions and in influence the above feedback evidences this. This part of the “curriculum offer” the pertinent questions being is it being accessed and is it working and parent and pupil feedback argues it is.

2. What does this tell us about the school’s safety and effectiveness: how does it inform our self-evaluation?

- Feedback is consistent with a “good” judgment for learning and teaching and personal development as the vocational opportunities and mentoring support offered develops the youngsters as learners and people.

3. How does this in turn impact our improvement plans and aspirations?

- Personalised learning through vocational and mentoring packages alongside accessing academic GCSEs so a range of experience and accreditation is offered and secured remains a priority.
